

EMBA Alumni Spotlight

Atlanta Mayor Andre Dickens names our alum Odie Donald II, EMBA Class of 2012, Chief-of-Staff.

Odie Donald II, formerly the administrator of the Augusta-Richmond County consolidated government, is returning to his native Atlanta to serve as Mayor

Andre Dickens' chief of staff.

Mayor Dickens called Odie the right person to help him meet his administration's goals because of his "super-charged experience."

Congratulations, Odie!

Afton Lucente, EMBA Class of 2016, is recognized in this year's GSU 40 UNDER 40 for her extraordinary leadership. Afton is currently an EMBA Board Member and mentor. Congrats Afton!

Markus Rimmele, EMBA Class of 2018, started a new business, DigitalituM. The company focuses on selling and implementing digitalization tools in the manufacturing industry. Markus migrated to the U.S. 14 years ago and has over 20 years of experience in Industrial Automation. Way to go, Markus!

Faustina Brooks, EMBA Class of 2021, was recently named one of six inaugural fellows nominated to participate in the BIPOC executive Leadership in Arts Program.

Responding to the challenges of structural racism in performing arts institutions across the U.S. and Canada, Live Arts Centers of North America (LACNA), a coalition of more than 50 of the largest performing arts centers in both countries, and the LACNA Foundation launched the BIPOC Executive Leadership in the Arts Program.

The BIPOC program supports the growth of future C-suite executives including, chief executive officers, chief operating officers, chief financial officers, and chief advancement/chief development officers. Congrats Faustina!

GSU EMBA Alumna Christine Roberts, EMBA Class of 2002, recently launched coaching and training company CYBL – Create Your Best Life at Home and Work. Christine helps professional women who feel stuck prioritize what's most important and make confident decisions to move their careers and lives in a positive direction. Congratulations, Christine!

Are you ready for your next educational challenge?

After completing the Robinson EMBA program in 2020, Dwayne Roache decided to continue his education in the Doctorate of Business Administration (DBA) program at GSU.

Roache: Why did I choose to get a DBA?

My passion is to explore the underlying causes of poverty to help lift the poor out of their dire conditions. By continuing my education in the DBA program, I felt I could better understand and propose practical changes while adding to the knowledge of theory to the various constraints of social, cultural, economic, and political domination to help move developing countries forward out of their poverty.

The DBA program presents an intellectual challenge due to its rigorous but simultaneously rewarding design, which allows me to tailor my research to my area of business interest to solve a real-world problem that I can use to advance my career in my current organization in the short term and gain boundless professional flexibility in the long term.

The Robinson DBA program is a 3-year, cohort-based, part-time doctoral degree program designed for senior-level decision-makers looking to evolve business practices, develop new perspectives through applied research, and create flexibility for future a career change (including academia).
